GIVES 5-POINT GUARANTEE TO BE IMPLEMENTED IF AAP IS VOTED TO POWER

Free education to all children: Kejriwal

EXPRESS NEW SERVICE
RAJKOT, AUGUST 16

DELHI CHIEF Minister and Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) national convener Arvind Kejriwal Tuesday promised "free and good education" to all children in Gujarat, which is scheduled to go to polls later this year.

Addressing a townhall in Bhuj, the district headquarters of Kutch district, Kejriwal said, "We guarantee free and good education to every child born in Gujarat. We won't resort to force though. If you have money, you are free to send your children to private schools. But if parents don't have money, the lack of money will not be allowed to stand between good education and your children. We will give the best education to your children free of cost."

The AAP chief gave five guarantees to people of Gujarat which the party will implement if it wins the Assembly elections — free education to children, overhauling government schools, conducting audit of private schools and not allow them to increase fees unreasonably, regularise contract teachers, and not assigning non-teaching duties to teachers.

Kejriwal, as his second guarantee, promised that an AAP government "will transform existing government schools into 'shandar' schools which will be better than private schools in respect of buildings, classrooms, desks, blackboards, teachers etc and we will open a big number of new government schools."

"Thirdly, we will conduct an audit of all private schools and will ask all those who have collected excess sive fees to return it to you. If any government wants to increase its fee, it will have to take approval from the government and no school will be allowed to increase the fee unreasonably," he added.

Stating that future of 17 crore students studying in government schools, including 53 lakh in Gujarat was bleak, the AAP chief claimed that government schools were in shambles because "the BJP and Congress governments didn't set schools right and instead made education kabada (a business)."

He said that the practice of private schools asking parents to purchase uniforms and books from the respective schools will be done away with.

"Fourthly, presently, there are lots of kacche (ad hoc) teachers like contractual and vidyashayaks. We will regularise their service and will give them respect. They will teach our students well only if we respect them, honour them and give them job security of job."

As his fifth guarantee, he said teachers won't be assigned non-teaching duties.

"We will not give non-teaching duties to any government. We have stopped this in Delhi and then in Punjab also," he said.

He appealed Vidyashayaks (those working as probationary teachers in government primary schools for first five years after being recruited by the Gujarat government) and policemen to campaign for the AAP and assured them to fulfil their demand of regularising their services and higher grade pay respectively if voted to power.

"All Vidyashayaks do intense campaigning for Aam Aadmi Party. I guarantee to address all your issues once we form the government after three months... Policemen are demanding (higher) grade pay here. I supported their demand last month. After that, the Gujarat government woke up but it gave lollypop... Instead of giving grade pay, it increased their allowances marginally... Do accept allowances from these people, work for Aam Aadmi Party covertly, bring an Aam Aadmi Party government and we will give you grade pay," he added.

The AAP chief further alleged that the Gujarat government is not taking action against private schools that were "looting parents by arbitrarily raising fees in the netas (politicians) own more than half of the private schools."

Kejriwal said, "I am told, in Gujarat, there is a committee to regulate school fees. But instead of regulating fees, all this committee does is to give its stamp of approval to fee hikes. The private school (managements) have virtually resorted to hoolliganism and the government is not taking any action against private schools because it gets money from them. More than half of private schools are run by these netas."

Reiterating his signature 'Hamne Dilli ke sarkari schools shandar kar diye' (we turned government schools in Delhi into excellent schools) assertion, the Delhi CM cited 99.7 per cent result of government school students in board examination in Delhi and government school students managing to get admissions to IITs and medical colleges to underscore that it was possible overhaul government schools and make quality education accessible to children of the poor also.

In Himachal, Gujarat, Cong, AAP echo each other in poll promises

GOPAL KATESHIYA & AMIL BHATNAGAR
RAJKOT, SHIMLA, AUGUST 16

AS THE Congress faces a spirited challenge from the Aam Aadmi Party in the two states going to polls this year, Gujarat and Himachal Pradesh, the promises by the two are starting to sound similar.

The Gujarat Congress promises include 10 hours of power supply without metre to farmers during daytime, waiver of farm loans up to Rs 3 lakh, prohibiting purchase of produce below MSP, and bonuses on sale of farm produce and milk. Promises also include halving charges for irrigation water and allowing cattle-herders to purchase agricultural land. In Himachal, the Congress has promised free power, jobs and financial incentives for women.

AAP, which has taken on the Modi government over accusations that it is distributing 'revdi', has accused the Congress of copying it in both the states, as "it has nothing to offer of its own". AAP earlier announced 300 units of free electricity in Gujarat, like its government has implemented in Punjab.

AAP Gujarat chief Gopal Italia says what matters to people is who is making the promises. "Now, people have tools like social media and other resources to cross-verify what one is claiming. They have reasons to believe the words of Arvind Kejriwal, as they can themselves see what AAP has achieved in Delhi. If Congress leaders are serious about what they are proposing, they should first implement the same in Rajasthan and Chhattisgarh, where the party is in power," Italia said.

On Kejriwal's announcement of free electricity and monthly cash grants to women, Italia says these were more than poll promises. "They are a part of the party's vision for Gujarat," he says, adding that the Congress has run out of ideas and therefore it has not managed to win any Assembly election in Gujarat in the past 27 years. The Congress, desperate to retain the space it is losing to AAP, said its announcements were a continuation of the decisions made at the party's Chintan Shivir in Dwarka in February this year.

Calling AAP the 'B-team of the BJP', Congress leader and former Union minister Tushar Chaudhary recently said the party would announce other promises decided at the Dwarka Shivir in the coming days. However, at least one of those promises — "a chargesheet of the BJP government's failures during the Covid-19 pandemic" — is missing so far.

Former Gujarat Congress president Arjun Modhwadia says the party had no need to "copy" AAP. "The Congress government in Punjab had already been giving free electricity and Rs 1,000 grant to women. Congress governments in Punjab also used to give free power. So, AAP's claim that it was the first to promise free electricity has to be viewed in this context. Our Sankalp Patra for farmers and cattle-herders, as a matter of fact, details the promises the Congress made at Dwarka. Our Dwarka Sankalp Patra also promised free electricity to farmers. So rather than the Congress imitating AAP, it is the other way round," he says.

AAP has been making gradual inroads in Gujarat, and last year replaced the Congress as the opposition in the Surat Municipal Corporation. In the Rajkot Municipal Corporation also, two of the four Congress corporators defected to AAP in April this year and the party has since been demanding that Vashram Sagathiya, one of the defectors, be recognised as Leader of Opposition in place of Congress's Bhanuben Sorani. Kejriwal has been holding town halls with businessmen in Saurashtra.
